OUR HISTORY

Our history began with a love story. In 1976, architect José Luis Moreno was flying over the white sands, turquoise waters and lush jungle of the Riviera Maya when he found himself smitten. Years later, he and his wife settled down in a small dwelling by the beach. He worked with a family of Maya masons—true believers of the Sacred Geometry—to align the white stucco buildings with energy fields; take a closer look and you will notice only round finishes, ensuring positive energy flow. Maroma was the area's first luxury boutique hotel, which our company then took over in 2002. Maroma was reimagined in 2023, drawing out the best of our culture by working closely and in detail with those who have carved our new history. From each of the 700,000 pieces of tile, created just for us by master ceramist José Noé Suro, to the magic of the hand-carved wood by Alfredo Alfaro Joffroy that can be found in the furniture. From the ancestral techniques of Oaxaca that adorn the textiles, to the subtle handweaving by local communities, guided by the distinguished Collectiva Concepción, on the uniforms of our employees. Every detail is unique.
